

Please make the do not call list stronger than ever. There is nothing worse than getting home from a very busy day at the office than to have your phone ringing off the hook from telemarketers. Worse yet, your are home sick (which is rare) and all you need is a good days rest and the phone is still ringing off the hook, with telemarketers. Stop the madness. If I decide I don't want these calls it should be a right to put my phone number on a "DO NOT CALL LIST." and it should be good until I say I want calls again if ever, which quite frankly I don't. We get plenty of spam calls via the internet e-mail. Speaking of, Can we have a do not e-mail list to for SPAM? Please, make the right choice. Let the pubic decide if they want telemarketer calls. Stop controlling our lives by saying we don't have choices.

Thank you for reading.
